Presenter:

Barbara Lindsey, Director
Multimedia Language Center
Department of Modern & Classical Languages
University of Connecticut

Barbara Lindsey has directed the Multimedia Language Center since 1996. The facility serves as a teaching and training center for in-house and state language professionals and for the testing and evaluation of grant-funded technology-based instructional projects. She has twelve years experience teaching German language and literature at the university level, elementary levels (After School Enrichment Programs) and for the private business sector. Ms. Lindsey has completed twelve hours of coursework focused on the educational applications of microcomputers and related technologies. She has participated in the ACTFL Standards workshops on Communications, Connections, Cultures & Comparisons and is currently chair of the MLA-sponsored Connecticut High School to College Articulation Project.
